The Child Health Service provides a range of community health and support services for children and their parents/carers to give every child the best possible start in life.

By providing early intervention and prevention services at the right time, the service aims to ensure children and young people are nurtured, safe and able to realise their full potential. Services are delivered in our child health centres or in the home. We have dedicated teams of child health nurses and early intervention clinicians (either social workers or psychologists). We also have advanced health workers to support families of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander background. These teams offer services that include:

- Health surveillance and screening
- Growth and developmental checks
- Early feeding support
- Nutritional information
- Immunisation clinics
- Parent education and support groups
- Counselling to enhance parenting

Our services

Parenting and feeding support

For additional feeding support, the Infant Feeding and Parent Support Program is available by appointment for parents with infants aged birth to six months.

Key age child health checks

By following a schedule of visits at key ages set out in a child’s Personal Health Record book, parents can monitor the health, wellbeing and development of their child in partnership with health professionals.

Parenting groups

Parenting groups allow for the sharing of health information with a focus on support. Topics may include: development, nutritional guidelines, parent-infant relationships, safety, infant feeding and sleep, behaviour and positive parenting.

Parenting programs

Designed for parents of toddlers and young children aged up to eight, parenting programs, seminars and individual counselling sessions help solve current problems and prevent future ones before they arise. Bookings are required.

Immunisation services

Free immunisation clinics for children (birth to five years) are available at the Zillmere Hall (52 Murphy Rd) and the Acacia Ridge Early Years Centre (67 Nyngam St). Clinics at Zillmere are held on the first and third Friday of every month from 10am to noon. Clinics at Acacia Ridge are held on the first and third Wednesday of every month from 9am to 11am. No bookings are required.

Brisbane City, Logan and Moreton Bay regional councils also provide free vaccinations. For clinic times and locations, contact the councils directly. General Practitioners also provide immunisation services.
